

Opportunities for Pet Sitters

Please email resumes and references to:
andrea@cocrittercare.com
inquiries also welcome at the above email address

Pet Sitting Specialist (part time, as needed):

We are looking for a special pet lover with experience in the following:

- Administering injections (specifically insulin to diabetics)
- Caring for elderly and chronically ill small animals
- Administering subcutaneous fluids (optional)

Ideally we are looking for someone with a vet tech background who is looking to make a little extra money by giving our special needs clients a little tender loving care. In addition, this position would fit well with a student attending veterinary school or vet tech school that is looking for a job working with animals and would benefit from the added technical experience. This is an independent contractor position and hence pet sitters must already have experience caring for pets, must have a reliable vehicle, and are responsible for their own job-related expenses. Pet Sitting Specialists are paid 60% of the fee collected by our service plus 100% of all tech fees collected. The hours will vary depending on demand, but typically will not exceed 10 per week. We can work care times around your schedule, as long as you have some availability in the morning and evening and some weekends. Candidates who will be available over Thanksgiving and/or Christmas 2005 will be given first priority.

Seasonal Pet Sitters Wanted:

We are currently looking for animal lovers who would be available to work over the upcoming holiday season (Thanksgiving and Christmas 2005, New Years 2006). Applicants must have a reliable vehicle, experience caring for animals and homes, a clean criminal record, and be willing to work on the major holiday days. Hours are flexible, pet sitters work as independent contractors and hence are responsible for their own expenses and tax filings and are compensated 60% of the fee collected for service plus a holiday bonus.

Overnight Pet Sitters Wanted (Part time):

We are looking for a reliable, responsible, pet-loving individual to help out with occasional overnight service. Applicants must have a reliable vehicle, experience caring for animals and homes, a clean criminal record, and be willing to spend the night at clients' homes (11-12 hours total). Position pays $35 per overnight visit and pet sitters work as independent contractors. The client supplies the pet sitter with a bed in which they can sleep. During the overnight service, the pet sitter is expected to feed, exercise, and give TLC to the client's pets as well as care for their home. They are expected to treat the client's home with the utmost care and respect. No visitors are permitted without the express consent of the home owner (no exceptions!).